Wood, Enduring by Nature

Wood forms the foundation of our furniture, chosen for its strength, stability, and natural character. We work primarily with beech, walnut, rubberwood, oak, and ash, carefully selected and shaped to bring authenticity and long-term performance. Over time, its presence deepens, reflecting the way each piece is lived with.

Races of Craftsmanship

Naturally shaped by skilled hands

Sandalyeci's leather and rope designs reflect a considered balance of craftsmanship and material expertise. In leather applications, Vaketa leather is chosen for its natural texture and the way its character deepens over time. Available in reddish tan and black, each piece carries subtle tonal variations that become part of its identity.

For rope designs, outdoor pieces can be customized with different structures, thicknesses, colors, and patterns, depending on use and context. This flexibility supports durability and visual diversity, while skilled handwork remains central to the spirit of every Sandalyeci design.

One Form, Many Expressions

Through material, upholstery, and finish, a single model can take on distinct characters. Changes in color, texture, and surface transform how a piece is perceived. The form remains constant. Its identity is defined by how materials are composed, allowing the same design to belong naturally in various environment.
